

THE LORD OF THE RINGS

THE RETURN OF THE FETT

PART I: Two Stupid Hobbits Annoy an Ent

Treebeard looked at Pippin as though he were the biggest idiot on the fucking planet.

“SIDE? I AM ON NOBODY’S SIDE. BECAUSE NOBODY’S ON MY SIDE.”

Merry and Pippin were astonished that the talking tree didn’t want to die for them.

“But Saruman’s armies are cutting down all the trees!” pipped Pippin.

“I’m sorry you little prick. What are hobbit houses made out of again?” Treebeard asked, astonished he was even going to have to explain this shit to the short hairy-toed fucks.

“...Wood,” admitted Merry, defeated.

“But trees don’t have feelings!” offered Pippin.

Treebeard once again looked at Pippin as though he were the biggest idiot on the fucking planet.

“The only reason I haven’t tossed you jabronis into the fucking pits of Isengard is because my brother-in-law wants to see you.”

“Who’s you’re brother-in-law?” asked everyone who’s familiar with the Tolkien universe and knows that Treebeard does not in fact have a canon brother-in-law.

“Gandalf the shitty-ass wizard,” said Treebeard. (This is now canon) “You haven’t seen him walking around with my sister?”

“...your sister’s his wooden staff?” asked Merry, bewildered at how clever I am.

“Yes, faggot.”

“But she’s so small and doesn’t talk.”

“She gets a lot of exercise and what the fuck is there to talk about?”

“A lot, actually!”

“Name one thing that’s happened on your journey thus far.”

“Gandalf DIED!” offered Pippin, attempting to surprise the wise old Ent like a dumbass.

“No, he’s alive. See? You literally can’t name a single thing that’s happened.”

Boromir... thought Merry sadly. He decided not to bring it up, because Treebeard would probably just make fun of him. And not how Sean Bean dies in every movie he’s in. He’d make fun of the actual character of Boromir dying. Treebeard is in no fucking mood for this shit, and Merry knows it. Pippin doesn’t because he’s a fool of a Took.

“Our friend Boromir died!” said Pippin angrily.

You fucking idiot, thought Merry.

“Oh, I’m so sorry, Pippin,” said Treebeard, as sarcastically as Entenly possible. “I know how much pain you must be in, because THOUSANDS OF MY FRIENDS AND FAMILY ARE DEAD.”

“Fucking rekt,” said Gandalf, who appeared before them in shining white...robes.

“Gandalf!” squealed the hobbits with glee. In unison, because I’m too lazy to write a unique line for each of them.

“Gandork, I thought we were skipping this whitey shit,” sighed Treebeard.

“What are you talking about?” asked Merry.

“He’s a White Wizard now, which is fucking useless. White men can’t fucking jump,” explained Treebeard.

"I can't become a Black Wizard unless I die doing something bad," explained Gandalf.

Remember, this is all canon.

"Okay, so kill Pippin, and Merry will stab you," said Treebeard.

"That's literally the best idea anyone's ever had," said Gandalf, and he stabbed Pippin through the chest with Glamdring or however the hell you spell it. Fine, I'll look it up... HA, I GOT IT RIGHT. I DIDN'T EVEN SEE THE HOBBIT MOVIES. I ACTUALLY REMEMBERED FROM READING THE BOOK YEARS AGO, WHICH YOU'VE NEVER DONE, YOU CASUAL PIECE OF SHIT.

(except for Chris if you're reading this)

"Pippin nooooo!" cried Merry, as he rushed over to his dead-ass friend.

"Now kill me, bro," said Gandalf, and he pushed Merry like a bully.

"I CAN'T!" wept Merry.

"DO IT. OR I'LL SLAUGHTER THE ENTIRE SHIRE!" roared Gandalf.

That did it. "RRRRRAAAHH!" yelled Merry as he lifted his pathetic little dagger to try to stab Gandalf.

But then suddenly, a bolt of...air... punched Gandalf through the trees.

It was Saruman.

"Stole your kill, bro," he laughed with his booming voice. The entire land shook.

"And now I level up to Super-White Wizard!" he laughed again. Still booming.

And then, I don't know, Gandalf walked through the trees toward them, wearing black robes.

"A Black Wizard versus a Super-White Wizard?" remarked Treebeard. "I think this is like, a tie or something."

"There's only one way to find out!" said Jango Fett, and he shot them both at the same time because he has two guns. It works out perfectly.

Gandalf jumped over the laser blast, but Saruman, still white, was unable to jump, and instead deflected it. It bounced into Merry, killing him. He was finally reunited with his dear friend. In elf hell.

Jango Fett flew away as the two wizards began punching the shit out of each other. His new mission? To kill Frodo Baggins and steal the Ring of Power for his own use to become an invisible bounty hunter. On his own, he was already the greatest killer who ever killed. If he were invisible, he'd be completely unstoppable.

He flew into Mordor, refueling his jetpack along the way with... lembas bread, and he confronted Bilbo. I mean Frogo. I mean Frogo. Fuck, I typed it again. Frodo. He tracked Frodo and found him and said,

"AH HA. I'M GONNA KILL YOU NOW AND STEAL THE WRING. WRING? RING."

"You leave Mr. Frodo alone!" shouted Samwise Gamgee, the best character in the entire story.

But not even Sam could stop the wrecking ball that was Jango Fett, and he fell over, knocked out cold from a cock-punch from the best damn bounty hunter ever. Remember, he hunted down a rogue Sith and killed her like a dog. Just for the credits. God damn.

But when all hope seemed lost, a crucial element of the story comes into play- Sauron had used his giant flaming eyeball to follow the mysterious trail of smoke from Jango's jetpack. And holy shiiiiiiiiit: I SEEE YOUUU!

The next thing Jango and the hobbits knew, they were surrounded by the Nazgul. Uh oh.

PART III: The King of Middle Earth

Jango Fett had his eyes on the prizes.

With the Ring of Power finally on his finger, he could make all of Middle Earth bow to him.

But then, Mace Windu jumped over a rock and used Force Push on him. Jango fell down.

“Your reign of bounty hunting has come to an end, Fett.”

But then genderbent Link stabbed Mace in the back of the head, proving her loyalty.

“Good, goooooood,” laughed Jango Fett. “You will be my apprentice and together, the galaxy will be ours!”

So Jango and genderbent Link walked over to the tower with the big flaming eye, I can’t remember its name. Who cares? Bara-wahtever.

Genderbent Link shot it with an arrow and Sauron was dead. The two then proceeded to beat the crap out of every Orc in Mordor. Not one of them was innocent.

Afterwards, they went on an educational campaign to let everyone know that Jango Fett possessed the Ring of Power, and if anyone opposed him, they would be shot dead.

It seemed like a happy ending for everyone, as Jango Fett was a gracious and just ruler.

He married genderbent Link and the two lived happily in the great white city of Gondor.

For a time.

But then Frodo Baggins, that little shit. He snuck into Jango’s bed after the Fett had passed out from exhaustion from pumping genderbent Link’s tight pussy all night.

Frodo stole the Ring of Power and grew 200 feet tall, and ran to Pelanor Fields, destroying half of the city along the way.

Jango was worried. He’d canonically killed the likes of Luke Skywalker, Darth Maul, Emperor Palpatine, and just recently, the 9 Kings of Men. But he’d never faced a foe like Giant Frodo Baggins before. He’d have to call in a little back up for this one.

He took out Ring he’d forged in secret after solidifying his rule over Muddle Earth- The Ring of The Force, allowing him to take control of all midichlorines in the galaxy.

He sent a giant tornado shockwave at Giant Frodo Baggins, who was stomping all over the Riders of Rohan, sending Giant Frodo Baggins flying through the air. But it wasn’t enough to kill him!

Oh no!

Then Gandalf arrived on the scene, along with Saruman! The White Council had been reunited!

Galadriel and Elrond and also Cirdan and Glorfindel (look them up, nerds) rode in on dragons.

Because Smaug had babies and the Elves stole them and raised them in secret to be good dragons!

Hooray!

Jango Fett had to retreat in the Slave I, bringing his bombshell waifu with him, while the Council fought against Giant Frodo. Also, the Dragons names were Ginger, Rex, Swiftwing, and Vader. (all canon in the Tolkien universe, look it up).

They were able to defeat Giant Frodo’s flying hobbits that he had summoned, but Giant Frodo punched them all out of the sky. Galadriel used a force field to protect them from his giant hairy feet.

Gandalf tried to shoot light at Giant Frodo’s eyes, but Giant Frodo slapped him across the land, killing him. Saruman the Wise wisely retreated into Galadriel’s shield, quietly happy at his rival’s demise.

All hope seemed lost, as nothing could stop Giant Frodo’s might.

But good old Sam Gamgee went to him and yelled, “Mr. Frodo! Stop! This isn’t you!”

Giant Frodo Baggins hesitated for a second, before using the Ring of Power to turn Sam into a potato. [POE-TAY-TOE]

Just as the last of Galadriel’s power had faded, and there was barely anyone left for Giant Frodo to kill, JANGO FETT RETURNED, riding the Incredible Hulk.

“I’m back, baby!” he yelled, backflipping off of Hulk as Hulk punched Giant Frodo straight into the Earth.

Frodo was trapped underground and could not move, so Jango’s dwarf allies dug tunnels all around his body and chopped into his vital organs in order to finally slay him.

Jango used the Ring of the Force to summon the Ring of Power, and he combined them into the Ring of Powerforce.

With it, he had absolute power, even over time itself. He looked upon the ruin Giant Frodo had brought to his land and wept. He used his Ring to reverse time, allowing Frodo and Sam to destroy the Ring of Power.

But Jango was crafty and kept his own Ring safe. He left Middle Earth to its own devices as he flew away with his Hylian shorty to go do badass things elsewhere.

And so Frodo had his finger bitten off, and Sauron died again, and the Eagles saved the day.

THIS IS ALL CANON

The End.